

Pictures in the park

JOSAPHAT FAIT SON CINÉMA 7 & 8/7, 14.30 > 23.00, Josaphatpark/Parc Josaphat, Facebook: cinecitecoop

The age in which local cinemas ruled Brussels is over, but in the summer, that lost tradition does sometimes re-emerge, guaranteed for the past several years by PleinOPENair (late August) and Bruxelles fait son cinéma. There is now a sympathetic newcomer to the field: CinéCité. On 7 and 8 July, the organization is transforming the Josaphatpark/Parc Josaphat into an open-air cinema. The programme is as ambitious as it is varied, and features the imaginative Brussels youth film Rosie & Moussa, the excellent farming thriller Petit paysan, Paterson by Jim Jarmusch, and the celebrated road documentary Visages Villages by the street artist JR and the peerless Agnès Varda. (NR)
